

---

Opinion:

Fluoridation update: I am pleased to report that Waterloo Mayor Brenda Halloran has decided to let us know what she thinks about fluoridation of the city's water supply. She will be voting for continued fluoridation of the water, as stated on her website, www.brendaformayor.com. (Click on "issues" to read her view)

During a debate on Sept. 21, in a media interview and also in a published questionnaire during the campaign, Halloran had consistently declined to provide her personal view on this deeply controversial topic, saying it was a personal health issue. I am glad she has changed her mind about this and is offering some leadership to Waterloo citizens.

ldamato@therecord.com

One of a series of opinion columns on issues in the upcoming municipal election.